Dear Dahlia Friends:

Again we bring to your attention our selection of Novelties as well as the best of the older varieties of Foreign Dahlias. This list comprises only a part of the varieties we grow as there are many of which we do not have a sufficient stock to warrant listing them.

We are listing quite a number of varieties in Green Plants only. Some of these we can supply a limited number of roots so if roots are required write us. We may be able to supply you.

Personally we consider plants equal to roots and use them heavily in our own plantings. The past season was the driest we have ever known yet our plants all made nice clumps, in many cases superior to those grown from roots. Once you try our plants, grown for strength and not forced for rapid propagation, we know you will agree with us.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all our friends and customers for their past favors and assure them of our close personal attention to their future orders.

May your dahlias this year be the best ever.

WALTER C. SCRUTTON,
GERTRUDE B. SCRUTTON

AUSTRALIAN POMPOMS

We regret that due to loss of stock in storage during an unexpected cold snap we are forced to withdraw most of our Australian pompoms from the market for this season. We hope to have a fine list of these aristocrats of the pompom world ready for your selection next year. We will have a few plants to spare in some varieties listed last year. If interested write us.

EASTER OR EARLY FLOWERING DAHLIAS

Last year we tried out several of this new type of dahlias and are enthusiastic over their possibilities. This strain originated from Ostergruz or Easter Greeting, grown in the greenhouse in Europe for Easter and early season blooms. We are specially interested in them as a bedding or border dahlia. They are mostly low, bushy growers and are such profuse bloomers that at times the foliage is almost entirely hidden.

For this season we are offering plants of four varieties and are trying out several others which if found satisfactory will be introduced next year.
